What is a ManaBloc Plumbing System?

A ManaBloc Plumbing System is water distribution system that assigns a PEX pipe to each individual fixture in the home, eliminating “competition” for hot water or water pressure. The ManaBloc Plumbing System is requested most often at Beehive Plumbing due to the benefits it affords to our clients.

Benefits of the ManaBloc Plumbing System

Many of our clients choose to switch over to a ManaBloc Plumbing System or install this system in their new homes because of the unmatched benefits it delivers. The first of its kind, this water distribution system offers a number of benefits:

- The system is easy to install, which saves on the cost of labor
- It reduces wasted water because the pipes store less water, which means less water needs to be flushed out before you get hot water from the tap
- It provides energy savings for you, lowering your energy expenses and allowing you to protect and preserve the environment
- Fewer fluctuations in water and temperature when two fixtures are being used at the same time
- PLS plastic pipes won't corrode

Is the ManaBloc Plumbing System More Expensive?

The ManaBloc system is comparable in cost to other plumbing systems but saves you money over time through increased efficiency and reduced water waste. Additionally, because the system is simple to install and resistant to corrosion, many of our clients find that they save money on long-term maintenance and repair of the system.

How Do I Choose a ManaBloc Plumbing System?

Because very few of our clients are well-versed in plumbing, we dedicate time and resources to counseling you through the process. We're happy to assist our clients in choosing the plumbing system that meets their needs and their budget. The first step in choosing a system is determining your goals and needs, including how many people will use the system, whether its being placed in a commercial building or residence, and more. Once we know your plumbing budget, the reason for replacing your current system if applicable, and what you're hoping to get out of your new system, we can share your options with you including everything you need to know about pricing, features, and maintenance.
